

4. Seaward Quantum

This may be the ultimate hybrid: a North American-style kayak with a retractable skeg, based upon the proven design of Seaward's multi-chined Chilco and Cosma. Add the Brit style of a low back deck (ideal for rolling), Greenland style bow and skeg with recessed hatches and deck fittings and you have a sporty model with all the touches Seaward is known for. For those look for quick-release self-rescue straps and a three-piece safehatch system plus a multitude of other features for safety and comfort.

3. Delta 16

Versatility is the key here as the Delta 16 has two hatches and an additional two day-hatches, plus it is light enough to be a day paddling kayak yet the dry storage availability complements a week-long excursion. The Delta 16 is a quick and comfortable kayak that will eat up miles of waterways effortlessly.
